Wendy King, Librarian

NEW BOOKS

"I was genial in the banquet hall, troublesome in combat. I was strong against the powerful, gentle to the feeble."

So wrote Cormac MacAirt, High King of Ireland (300 A.D.) in The Counsels of Cormac, translated from the old Irish by Thomas Cleary, and recently donated to the library. The great warrior and wise man Cormac wrote this for the powerful men of his time, instructing them how to be good leaders. For instance, he advised them "don't be one who quarrels with truth" and to be compassionate and kind. It's no wonder that Cormac's reign was one of peace, prosperity and justice. His advice is just as meaningful and relevant today as it was 1700 years ago.

Other new books in the library:

1916: The Easter Rising by Tim Pat Coogan

Ireland for Beginners by Phil Evans and Eileen Pollock

Irish on the Inside: In Search of the Soul of Irish America by Tom Hayden

The Story of Kilkenny by Robert Wyse Jackson

Memorable Irish Trials by Kenneth E.L. Deale

Tommy Makem's Secret Ireland by Tommy Makem

LIBRARY RESOURCES FOR LEO WALSH SCHOLARSHIP ESSAYS

GENEALOGY

Are you searching for information about a family member's involvement in Ireland's fight for freedom 1913-1921? The library now has a copy of the index of names of those who gave witness statements to the Bureau of Military History, kindly donated by library volunteer Finbarr O'Driscoll. Established in 1947, the bureau documented over 1700 stories given by members of the Irish Volunteers, Cumann na mBan, the IRB, Sinn Fein, the Irish Citizen Army, the relatives of deceased individuals as well as those not associated with any organizations. The first testimonies were released to the general public in 2003. Visit the library to look up a name in the Index to Contributors and learn how to obtain a copy of their witness statement from the National Archives of Ireland.

SUPPORT THE LIBRARY

Need a book to read to help you get through the winter months? A free copy of Irish Californians: Historic, Benevolent, Romantic can be yours with a $20.00 donation to the library, accepted during library hours. The library also has a great selection of used books for sale. All proceeds benefit the library.

Save the Date – Saturday April 10, 2010, to celebrate the Library's 35th Birthday at a fundraiser dinner.
More information about this event appears in this month's bulletin.

Celtic Voices pack the House!

The Celtic Voices Choirs, a community outreach program of the Irish Immigration Pastoral Center, packed the St. Patrick's Room with 500 supporters for their first Christmas concert on December 6th.

The three choirs - Children's, Youth and Adult - performed a wonderful mix of toe-tapping Christmas favorites, old and new, and there were several debut soloists who surprised many there!

Long time UICC member Margaret McAuliffe said "It was fabulous! It is great to see the UICC full of young kids and families - everyone from small babies to those in their 90's!"

The choirs, director Mary McKeever and the IIPC are grateful to the UICC Board of Directors for donating the Room and look forward to several more performances in the New Year!

For more information about the choirs, please call the IIPC at 415.752.6006.
