BOARD MESSAGE

Dear UICC Members

Thank you for your continued support. A copy of this letter will be sent to all members in the next several weeks.

I am proud to report that tangible progress is being made at the Center. As we near the half-way mark of 2019, I write to share with you highlights and milestones as well as to outline our path toward a bright future.

Over the past few months, the Center has hosted a Superbowl gathering, a Phil Coulter Concert, the Grand Marshall Dinner, the Rose of Tralee selection, the Saint Patrick's Day weekend, Dervish Concert, Easter brunch, a Beto O'Rourke town hall meeting, the Joanne Hayes-White's Retirement Party, and the U2 cover band Zoo Station. I would like to thank Maureen and Adrian Kelly of Knights Catering for working with us to improve the food and service provided at the Center in 2019. These events - which thousands have attended - have inspired our membership and the broader San Francisco community with a vision of the warmth and hospitality of the United Irish Cultural Center. We need your help in continuing to spread the word that the Center is a great space to book events and meetings.

A big thank you to Liam Reidy and Mark and Molly Burke and the volunteers that have hosted and supported a number of concerts and events this year!!

The Center has continued to provide space for Irish Immigration Pastoral Center- Caidre Cafe, monthly mass and luncheon; Comhaltas Irish language classes on Saturdays and dancing on Thursdays, Pipers classes, meetings of the ILHS, United Irish Societies, LAOH and Ancient Order of Hibernians, Rebel Cork, the GAA and many others. We continue to look for creative ways to increase our cultural programming and engage with our community partners.

Hats off to Peggy Nevin and her Co-Chair Carmelle Reiser and committee on the 26th annual UICC Leo T. Walsh scholarship program. On May 1, 2019, 42 scholarships were awarded to high school and college bound students, 220 people were in attendance, and $40,250.00 was awarded. Since the inception of this program in 1984, 481 scholarships have been disbursed. The scholarship program has been supporting students educational endeavors and instilling in them a solid connection to our Center. Many thanks to the donors! The scholarship committee is tasked with starting all over again to raise funds for the 2020 scholarship program. Remember all donations are tax deductible.

Speaking of volunteers- the library has remained open every weekend and continues to foster Irish literature. In addition, they are working on collaborating with the Main SF library and City Hall to curate shows- the IRISH 49ERS PROJECT. They coordinated the presentation of photos from the 1906 EARTHQUAKE taken by an Irish photographer. Family members were present. The History and heritage committee are working on their next project - stay tuned.

We want to hang more photos throughout the Center to provide more Irish culture and history and facilitate storytelling. I am hoping you as the members will help. It would be fun to gather additional photos of members and/or members families. Imagine a copy of a favorite Irish themed photo framed and hung at the Center. Any size will do with a short two sentence summary. Send it to the Center attention-Anne Cassidy Carew or drop it at the Library Thursday- Saturday 1:30-4:30.

On the operations front, we have hired a new janitorial service, lowered our garbage bill, replaced the water heaters, fixed the heating to the St. Francis room, lowered our insurance bill, rekeyed the building, replaced outdated circuit breaker boxes with the generous support of the Electrical Union, improved our comcast service, and soon will install security cameras throughout the building. We have worked with an ABC attorney and labor attorney supporting the liquor license and the union topics. We have engaged an accountant to assist us in closing our 2018 books and perform the audit.

We have refined and polished a room rental event package that we hope provides competitive rates and a reasonable profit and attractive event space for meetings, occasions and cultural programming.

Grant applications were submitted to the Irish Government in order to finance cultural programming and provide the technology and communications required to move us into the future. On numerous occasions we met with the Irish Consul General to discuss collaboration and partnership.

Our staffing levels have been fluid as we balance essential job functions with the right personnel under a tight budget. Lisa Michellis joined the Center in April as our Event Manager. We will be hiring another part time staff member for event and operational support. We also have hired a part time Bar manager, Marvin Long to manage the bar inventory.

Our controller Ligia Torres, treasurer Michael Barnacle, and Kathy Grogan continue to work with the auditors in completing the audit. The revised completion date will be the end of May. We will present the report and findings to members in July.

What can you do for your CENTER? Renew your membership dues? Consider giving a UICC membership to a family member or the friend who has everything? Make a donation to help offset the expense of the audit? (Currently at $22,000) Volunteer hours during the summer at the library, answering phones, or helping at an event?

Are we where we want to be? No. Is there room for improvement? Definitely. But we have so much to be proud of, and we are learning and improving as we go along. In that vein, I would also like to thank the Center's volunteers and the members of the Board who have selflessly volunteered innumerable hours these past few months. Without your efforts, the Center would not be where it is today.

We have STRATEGIC PRIORITIES for our Center

PRIORITY #1 Increase revenue and decrease expenses

PRIORITY #2 Create membership benefits, increase dues paying members & increase number of new members

PRIORITY #3 Expand, collaborate and promote Irish Cultural programs

PRIORITY #4 Create and execute a fundraising plan for a state of the art Irish Center

PRIORITY #5 The best event venue on the west side of the City

Before I finish, I would like to ask you to keep our friend and past Board member Bill Luque in your thoughts. His dedication to the Center will be long remembered. By the time this is published a memorial sponsored by the Kopling Center, the United Irish Societies and the UICC will have been celebrated.

I am happy to meet with any of you personally to hear your concerns and share our collective vision for how we might continue to build this community. Please email me at acarew@irishcentersf.org

Anne Cassidy Carew

De Bogman is an hour-long tour-de-force of storytelling and physical comedy. It charts the story of Declan who, from his humble origins as a village idiot in Ireland, goes to America to become World Heavyweight Boxing Champion. The story is at once a homage to the Hollywood boxing movie, and also to the epic tales of the Irish in America.

Performer Máirtín de Cógáin narrates the story at a furious pace, while also performing over twenty characters. Full of spectacular plot twists, De Bogman has had audiences howling with laughter (not to mention roaring on the loveable Declan) for nearly twenty years.

REMEMBRANCE FOR KATE KENNEDY

CHAMPION FOR WOMEN'S RIGHTS AND WORKERS' RIGHTS

By Josephine Coffey

Kate Kennedy was a 19th century Irish immigrant and San Francisco pioneer who fought for and won equal pay for equal work (in 1874) and protection from arbitrary demotion and dismissal (in 1890) for California educators. How remarkable these achievements are can be seen from the fact that today, almost 150 years later, in the wider job market, women still can't count on being paid the same as a man for doing the same job.

The roots of Kate's interests lay back in her childhood in Ireland. She was the second child and first daughter of Eliza King Kennedy and Thomas Kennedy, farmers in County Meath. They had five other daughters. The Kennedys were sufficiently prosperous that they sent their first and second daughters to a convent school in Navan. The Kennedy sisters did well there; Kate graduated first in her class. But when Thomas Kennedy died in 1841, a convent education was no longer within the family's reach. Foreshadowing her later career, the teenage Kate taught what she had learned to her younger sisters. And the Kennedy girls turned these skills, particularly languages and needlework, prized as ornaments in a well-to-do woman, to practical use.

The Kennedys were followers of Daniel O'Connell and of the Young Ireland movement, and in 1848, when the Young Ireland movement collapsed, the family decided to leave Ireland. Like many immigrant families to this day, they didn't leave all at once. The early arrivals established a foothold and financed the migration of the remaining family members. Kate, her brother Patrick and her sister Alice were the first to leave, coming to New York in 1849, where the girls made their living doing fine needlework. The next move was to gold-rush California. Alice and another sister, Anne, came to San Francisco in 1853. There too, they found a market for their needlework, and Alice also got a job teaching in the San Francisco school system. Two other sisters, Mary and Lizzie, joined them in 1855, and the four young women earned enough to buy a house on Clay Street, which they gave to their mother when she and the remaining family arrived in San Francisco in 1856.

Alice's teaching career began soon after she arrived in San Francisco. But by the end of her first year, when the Know Nothing Party came to power, she was let go, presumably because she was foreign and Catholic. A number of prominent San Franciscans came to her defense, but it wasn't until the Know Nothing Party fell from power that she recovered her job.

Alice's experience, showing that though injustice may happen, it can be corrected, may have helped prepare Kate for her own confrontation with the San Francisco Board of Education some 14 years later. Beginning with her first San Francisco teaching assignment in 1857, Kate had established a reputation as an exceptional teacher and administrator. In 1867, she was appointed principal of the newly constructed North Cosmopolitan Grammar School, but was offered 70% of what a man would have been paid for the same position. She organized a campaign to change this, and, in 1874, the California legislature passed a law saying that men and women in comparable positions in California public schools had to receive the same pay.

Kate had help in this campaign from political associates she worked with in promoting the Single Tax and other social justice measures advocated by economist Henry George. George's ideas provided the theoretical background for Kate's own increasing work advocating for the rights of working people. She gave speeches for, wrote about, and donated money to, the early labor movement in San Francisco. In 1886, she was nominated by the United Labor Party to run for State Superintendent of Schools.

It was probably her political activism that led the Board of Education, in 1887, to demote her to a smaller school at a smaller salary. She refused the transfer, and sued the Board. The case eventually went to the California Supreme Court, which decided in her favor, ruling that an educator could not be demoted or fired except for misconduct or incompetency. The ruling was handed down on January 9, 1890. She died just two months later, on March 18, 1890.

There will be a Remembrance of Kate Kennedy at her gravesite in Cypress Lawn Cemetery, sponsored by local Irish, education and union organizations. The main speaker will be Dennis Kelly, long time San Francisco teacher, union activist, and past president of the United Educators of San Francisco (UESF).
